Foley Says Divver's Colonizing and Appeals to the Courts to Shut Out 1,000 Votes -Foleytte Punched -Fine Riot Over a Sign Asking Where Divver Was in '96.

Councilman Tom Foley secured an order resterday from Justice McAdam in the Supreme Court directing the election officers of the Second Assembly district to show cause why about 1,000 persons whose names are on the rolls of that district should not be prevented from voting at the primaries next Tuesday. The order is returnable to-morrw. Foley has taken the district fight into the courts to back up his assertion that the Divver faction has been colonizing and that there are 1,000 men enrolled on the Divver side who have no right to vote in the district. Among other things Foley says that sixty inmates from Randall's Island have been borrowed for election purposes and that there are at least 100 names of dead men on the list. he matter of fact it is freely admitted both sides in the fight that 2,700 new by both sides in the light that 2,00 hew voters have come into the district since the last election. Former Judge Divver's friends claim that 1,200 of these will cast their ballots for him while the rest they

August H. Ziegler, who keeps a cafe August 1. Zeeger, and the men not yet killed in the Foley-Divver fight, colled about him yesterday a little group of fellow survivors and told through the left corner of his mouth the story of his experience. corner of his mouth the story of his experi-ences in trying to get by a Foley meeting at Coenties slip. He won't say anything through the right corner of his mouth for some time, at least, not until the stitches are removed. Ziegler is a Divver sympathizer. The fact seems to be well known along the lower East Side waterfront. When he was passing the open air meeting he was recognized. The orator on the truck stopped talking for a minute while his listeners went for Ziegier. Somebody punched Ziegler behind the ear and sent him to his knees. Then he was hit on the head with a billy and at last, for luck, he got a terrific crack in the mouth.

Ziegler does not think that the blow on Ziegler does not think that the blow on the mouth was justified because he is not a Divver orator and doesn't even live in the Second district. He says that at least one of his assailants was a Foley police-man of the Oak street station, and that he will go to Commissioner Murphy to-day with a demand for an investigation.

There is a whole heap of trouble in the district, too, over the rival signs of the fighting Democrats. Some time ago Judge Divver placed a sign in front of his home, at 7 Madison street, that read:

THIS IS WHERE DIVVER LIVES. WHERE DOES HIS OPPONENT LIVE? 243 WEST 136TH STREET.

When the Foleyites read this their wrath knew no bounds. There would have been a scrap right then and there, but cool heads prevailed over hot heads and a council was called to devise some plan that would neutralize the effects of this damaging placard. The result was that a large sign was painted on the building directly opposite the Divver residence. Above the sign was a large painting of Foley, under which was painted:

> I WAS HERE IN 1894. WHERE WAS DIVVER?

Judge Divver was in California for a Judge Divver was in California for a while in 1894 and some of his friends and colleagues were in jail accused of election funds. Therefore this sign caused more consternation among the Divverties than the first sign had in the Foley contingent. An investigation was promptly started to find out just how the Foleyites did the trick.

It was discovered that the building was It was discovered that the building was leased by E. F. Smith, a German tailor, who has no interest in politics. He had leased the space to an advertising firm, thinking only that a sign telling of "Grandmother's pancake" or "Dr. Pate's baid-head cure" or some such thing would be placed there. He, too, was indignant when he found out what had been painted when he found out what had been painted. and joined the Divverites' in complaining to the sign people. Through political and other pressure brought to bear upon this concern it decided to remove the sign and last night three painters, armed with lad-ders, pots and brushes, arrived at the ders, pots and brushes, arrived at treabled spot. They were about to point the building, when a Foleyite, ing by, saw what was being done and They were about to re mediately ran to that organization's head-quarters and apread the terrible news. There was a general rush to the spot. But right there was a contingent of Divverties. Another contest for leadership in the Second has broken out in the Republican ranks. The powers of the present leader Dennis Shea, is being disputed by Samuel Gavin who was leader during Mayor Strong's term and who has since been a captain under Shea. Gavin advocated the cause of Eli Rosenberg who wished to be sent to the County Convention, but Shea opposed this, so Gavin broke away from the Shear and yesterday started an organization of his own Michael Hines, who is Shea's right-hand man said last night that nothing serious would come from the fight as Gavin uld not control forty votes in the dis-

It is too early yet to give any outline of what the plan of reorganization is likely to be. It may include an applica-tion for a receiver. There seems to be no probability now that there will be any riminal proceedings.

G. M. Fennell & Co., fiscal agents for the Tripler Company, were quoted yesterday to the effect that the next step was likely to be a petition by some stockholder for a receiver for the concern. Their stateent continued: "In that case the company will be re-organized on purely business principles, that is, close to the ground, and not up in the air, as was the case before. Every bona-fide stockholder who can show payments of money for his stock will be protected in his rights and allotted shares in the new com-pany, pro rata. This will wipe out the promoters' stock and the company will then be on a new basis, and new capital will be ready to develop the liquid making process."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

WEDNESDAY Sept. 11. The speculation in stocks subsided to-day to an extent that left the market largely in the hands of professional traders. In the early dealings there was a continuation of the heavy profit taking that was a feature of yesterday's market, and later Board Room traders endeavored to emphasize the effect of these operations by effering stocks down and by resorting to other tacties usually employed to depress prices. In consequence the great majority of stocks closed lower than last night. Few of the net declines, however, were important. St. Paul, which led the list in respect to activity, sustained a net loss of only to of 1 per cent. The maximum fluctuations in were rather wide and reflected diverse views as to the action the directors of the company may take to-morrow when they will determine upon the amount of the dividend to be paid for the last half of the fiscal year ending June 30. As is usually the case when the amount of an impending dividend is in doubt no trustworthy information is obtainable as to the probable action of those who will declare it. Without doubt several members of the St. Paul directory are in favor of placing the common stock of the company upon a 7 per cent. basis. Their view of the situation, which is shared by many of the stockholders, is that the company is well able to adopt this policy, having expenderia large amount of the net earnings. of recent years in improving the physical condition of the property and having accumulated a large surplus while bringing the system up to a high standard of efficiency. Moreover, current earnings of the company are increasing steadily as compared with last year and its traffic is not likely to be impaired by the damage sustained by the corn grop. Still another argument in favor of an increase in the accepted by the shareholders of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Company. About the only argument that has been advanced against an increase in the dividend is that it would be a second raising of the rate within a single fiscal year.

Many dealers in stocks are of the opinion that the course of the market hinges largely upon to-morrow's action relative to dividend upon St. Paul common. This may extent. The one important circumstance governing the security market at present s the condition of the money market. To be sure money on call was comparatively per cent, but bank reserves are low and the measures which the Treasury has adopted to return its surplus to the channels of business and to minimize future accumulations for a time may not be entirely successful and, even if they should be, they would not release enough money to warrant the undertaking of a campaign on the long side of the market by substantial interests. As a matter of fact those interests are not in favor of speculative activity at the present time. They are disposed to encourage investment buying based upon the satisfactory condition of business generally and this accounts for the steady improvecurities that are confidently regarded as likely to pay their present dividends, and which yield more than 4 per cent. This view is entertained regarding a number of the industrial preferred stocks as well as a larger number of railway issues. A natural consequence of the lower rates for money on call was a firmer market for sterling exchange, a condition that obviously defers imports of specie which bankers had expected would take place at the end of this week. The foreign exchange market was also influenced in the direction of higher rates by further sales of stocks by London. It appears that European operations in this market of late have been largely of a lative character and those who are making them are quite as alert to take moderate profits as our own professional market was disturbed to-day by misinformation regarding the nature of the treatment of the President's wound last night. At the same time efforts were made locally to magnify that incident as an operation of some importance and even of serious significance. The most rational view of the market is that it was entitled to a reaction from the sharp rebound of Monday and Tuesday from the break of last Saturday. The noteworthy dealings, other than those in St. Paul, were in Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Eric common and Atchison and in the industrial list in Amalgamated Copper and in United States Steel common. These stocks sustained net losses averaging about a point The less active issues being in the main neglected did not suffer to as great an extent and a few of them were excepionalliy strong, notably the so-called miner Vanderbilt issues, namely C. C. C. and St. Louis, Canada Southern, New York, Chicago and St. Louis second preferred and Chicago,

Indianapolis and Louisville. Speculation in the United States Steel stocks was not stimulated by trustworthy information that the steel strike is virtually at an end. The explanation of this doubtless is that the Street has believed similar reports on a number of occasions heretofore when they did not prove to be correct, hence it was sceptical of the accuracy of the news that came to hand to day from Pittsburg and which received local confirmation. The Republic Iron and Steel stocks were depressed by the publication of the company's annual report telling of unsatisfactory results for the period covered by it. As is well known here has been a decided improvement in the business of the company beginning in the early summer and made more pronounced by the suspension of operations at a number of the plants of the United States Steel Corporation International Pump common was exceptionally strong on light transactions and a sale of Wells Fargo express at an advance of 16 points upon the last previous transaction was reported. The bond market, though only moderately active, was very firm. On the "curb" there were heavy dealings in Consolidated Tobacco gold fours at an advance of 681, and interest and in Dominion Securities at an advance of 77's. A part of this improvement was lost in sympathy with the reaction in the stock market, the tone of which at the close was in the
